

The pace has been proven. Twice.

This month the market ran two experiments on our behalf, at someone else's expense, and published the results. One company proved franchise brands buy an operating system at venture scale. Another proved the AI-native accounting engine climbs to $15M fast. We are the only company standing where those two results overlap, and this page is why that matters for what we do next.

One proved the vertical. One proved the engine. Nobody holds the intersection.

THE VERTICAL, PROVEN

Delightree

$25M raised · Accel

~20x revenue in 2 years.
6,000+ locations. Franchise brands adopt at batch speed when the product lands.

What they don't hold: the money. No books, no royalties, no payments, no regulated work.

THE ENGINE, PROVEN

Haven

$15M ARR · ~3 years

Bookkeeping to taxes to managed AP/AR to multi-entity. The services ladder compounds when you keep shipping lines.

What they don't hold: a vertical. No brand relationships, no franchise graph, one customer at a time.

THE INTERSECTION · OPEN

CoverPanda

The money layer for franchising

Connected books across a brand's units, royalties on real revenue, consolidated financials a franchisor can trust, and brand-level distribution: one logo hands us units in batches.

We've been in business about as long as Delightree. The difference is where we're standing.

These two announcements are not a threat. They are the bar. They prove the ceiling on our category is far higher than our plan, and every dollar of their marketing teaches franchisors to want an operating system. We sell the half they can't deliver.

The plan is the floor. The bar is what best-in-class did with the same hand.

YEAR END	OUR PLAN	THE BAR (THEIR PACE, OUR BASE)
Today	~$800K collected, live-metered · product revenue +34.4% in July alone	July was bar pace. The job is holding it.
2026	$2.0M target · $2.5M stretch · 20 new logos · every unit under a signed brand activated	$2.5M
2027	$3.3M	$5–6M
2028	$5.6M	$10–12M
2029	$9M	$18–20M · Haven's ladder-speed and Delightree's adoption-speed, applied to us

Neither company is magic. Haven expanded services lines relentlessly; Delightree activated locations in batches. Those are the two motions we already run: the services ladder and brand-level unit activation. The bar is not a fantasy, it is their public numbers applied to our starting point.

Every lane feeds the next. One game.

Sales

The logos we sign hand services their units. 20 logos is the year: 3 flagships, ~17 growth-stage brands. The pipeline pace that feeds it: 5 verified demos a week.

Services

The books we keep make the product smarter, and every referred franchisee closed at 50%+ turns a customer into a channel. The 11/10 standard is the moat's foundation.

Product

Everything we ship makes the next sale easier. The standard: every unit under a signed brand, connected and collecting, in batches. Melty in three weeks is the new proof.

Everyone

Two boards of ten raving fans: customers so happy they sell for us. Every fan has an owner, one wow in thirty days, and an ask. When one lane wins, all of us rise.

The window to own the franchise money-and-compliance layer is roughly 12 to 24 months, and the category just got loud. We were already here. That head start is only worth something at speed.